

CENSUS COMIC STRIP

Comic Strip 3: The Urban Apartment

Setting: A young adult living alone in a high-rise apartment in a busy city.

Reflection Questions:

- How can census data help cities make decisions about things like public transit, housing, and jobs?
- Why might some young people feel like the census doesn't relate to them?
- What are some ways we can help more people understand why the census matters and encourage them to take part?
