Canadian Gynecological Health Survey

A new national survey on how gynecological symptoms impact the daily lives of women in Canada

statcan.gc.ca

Canada

The Canadian Gynecological Health Survey collects information from women in Canada aged 18 to 64 to better understand how gynecological symptoms impact their daily lives.

WHY A SURVEY ON GYNECOLOGICAL HEALTH?

- Currently, there are limited data on gynecological health at the national level in Canada.
- Better information will help governments understand the challenges encountered and improve support.
- Statistics Canada developed this survey with input from Canadians, including clinicians, policy makers and researchers, to support policies and programs.

YOU CAN EXPECT QUESTIONS ON...

- Menstruation and access to menstrual products
- Symptoms related to menstruation, perimenopause and menopause
- Access and barriers to health care for these symptoms
- Other related topics including medication use, chronic conditions, gynecological surgeries and procedures, and pregnancy.

YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Participation in this survey is voluntary. However, by taking part, you and others will provide important information needed to better understand gynecological health and guide future research and programs.

Your privacy is important to us

All information collected by this survey is strictly confidential and protected by the Statistics Act. We will not release any information that would identify you or any member of your household without your consent. This information cannot be released under any law, including the Access to Information Act.
