About the survey

This survey is used to estimate the number of persons missed during the last Census.

Information from the Reverse Record Check survey is used to calculate accurate population counts, which are used to determine the amount of money transferred from the federal government to your region. Provinces and territories use these funds to help finance many social programs including health care, employment and training, education, public transportation and housing. The information may also be used by Statistics Canada for other statistical and research purposes.

Completion of this questionnaire is a legal requirement under the Statistics Act, which ensures that the information provided will be kept strictly confidential.
